Another Perfect Day

Fates Warning

You tell me you love me and I wonder why
The sun is overhead, but I cant see past the clouds in my eye
You show me what is real and I just pretend
Another perfect day and I wonder how it all will endAnother perfect day and I will hide away
From all the sights and sounds

Another perfect day and I will walk away
From all the light that surroundsShadows embrace this room

As I draw the shades tight

Close the curtains, shut out the day

Shut out the lightAnother perfect day and I will hide away

From all the sights and sounds

Another perfect day and I will walk away

From all the light that surroundsLying awake again, restless in this bed

Summer night whispers soft

But I cant sleep through the noise in my head

Soon the sun is rising and I just descend

Another perfect day and I wonder when it all will endAnother perfect day and I will hide away

From all the sights and sounds

Another perfect day and I will walk away

From all the light that surrounds Another perfect day for me to hide away

From all the sights and sounds

Another perfect day for me to walk away

From all the light that surrounds
