

One Day

ZOEgirl

Every day is the same old thing
Same frustration, same routine
And by the time I realize
I haven't taken time to spend with You
My day is through Have a little faith, You say
It'll go a long, long way
Look up, I'm coming soon
Everything I think I need
It all begins to seem so small
In the presence of You One day
(One day)
All these words will meet their music
One day
(One day)
All these dreams will come true One day
(One day)
You'll trade answers for confusion
One day
(One day)
Lord I will be with You, one day I look around and all I see
Are selfish people, selfish me
Distracted by the things around
These conversations, weigh me down Have a little faith, You say
It'll go a long, long way
Look up, I'm coming soon
Then I'm reminded of everything that You have done
And I'm caught in the presence of You One day
(One day)
All these words will meet their music
One day
(One day)
All these dreams will come true One day
(One day)
You'll trade answers for confusion
One day
(One day)
Lord I will be with You, one day When You open up the sky
I will be free from this shell and I will fly
I will see you eye to eye One day, You will wipe away the tears

One day and all the anger and the fear
One day, You'll hold me for a hundred years
One dayOne day
(One day)
All these words will meet their music
One day
(One day)
All these dreams will come trueOne day
(One day)
You'll trade answers for confusion
One day
(One day)
Lord I will be with You, one day

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>