One Day

ZOEgirl

Every day is the same old thing

Same frustration, same routine

And by the time I realize

I haven't taken time to spend with You

My day is throughHave a little faith, You say

It'll go a long, long way

Look up, I'm coming soon

Everything I think I need

It all begins to seem so small

In the presence of YouOne day

(One day)

All these words will meet their music

One day

(One day)

All these dreams will come trueOne day

(One day)

You'll trade answers for confusion

One day

(One day)

Lord I will be with You, one dayI look around and all I see

Are selfish people, selfish me

Distracted by the things around

These conversations, weigh me downHave a little faith, You say

It'll go a long, long way

Look up, I'm coming soon

Then I'm reminded of everything that You have done

And I'm caught in the presence of YouOne day

(One day)

All these words will meet their music

One day

(One day)

All these dreams will come trueOne day

(One day)

You'll trade answers for confusion

One day

(One day)

Lord I will be with You, one dayWhen You open up the sky

I will be free from this shell and I will fly

I will see you eye to eyeOne day, You will wipe away the tears

One day and all the anger and the fear One day, You'll hold me for a hundred years

One dayOne day

(One day)

All these words will meet their music

One day

(One day)

All these dreams will come trueOne day

(One day)

You'll trade answers for confusion

One day

(One day)

Lord I will be with You, one day

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/