Forever

As I Lay Dying

Forever, your eyes will hold the memory

I saw your heart as it overtook me We tried so hard to understand and reason But in that one moment, I gave my heart awayI gave my heart away In that moment, I gave my heart away In that moment, I gave my heart awayWith that perfect breath where my mind lay beside me And all I knew is what had overtaken me With no reason, I am comforted by inability to understandForever, your eyes will hold the memory I saw your heart as it overtook me We tried so hard to understand and reason But in that one moment, I gave my heart awayI gave my heart away In that moment, I gave my heart away In that moment, I gave my heart awayForever your eyes will hold the memory Forever your eyes will hold the memory Forever your eyes will hold the memoryWhen I wake from this dream Will your smile still open my heart and leave me transparent? When I wake from this dream Will your smile still open my heart?
