Peroxide

Nina Nesbitt

You're like a junk email in my inbox
Keep coming back, you keep coming back
You're like a constant ringing in my ears
You keep calling back, why are you calling backYou're like a train that's running out of steam
You're losing track, should've stopped way back
You're with a new girl now, she's only 16
Hanging off a string, I heard her heart smashSo tell your girlfriend you used to be my boyfriend Used to be my boyfriend, how would she like that She doesn't know about all the things you've done then
All the things you've said just to try and get me back
But you had your chancePeroxide on your heart
It's burning, it's falling apart
Peroxide on my heart
It's turning light from the dye
Peroxide in your eyes
It's burning, burning your heart
Peroxide, you ask why
You ask why it all fell apartShe's one beautiful rose in a thorn field
She doesn't know that you're among those
She can only give so much until you take
Take yourself back and leave the painPeroxide on your heart
It's burning, it's falling apart
Peroxide on my heart
It's turning light from the dye
Peroxide in your eyes
It's burning, burning your heart
Peroxide, you ask why
You ask why it all fell apartLet it burn 'cos it's your turn
To feel something now
Let it burn, let it burn
'Cos it's your turn to feel something nowPeroxide on your heart
It's burning, it's falling apart
Peroxide on my heart
It's turning light from the dye
Peroxide in your eyes
It's burning, burning your heart
Peroxide, you ask why
You ask why it all fell apart

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/