Seppuku

Trapdoor Social

Like we said at the start
It's a part of us all
It's the picture we hang
On the burning wallShouldering a wounded heart
With my pride on the line
The words tumble out wrong
As I turn the knifeBefore you turn to speak
I know the answer
And my face turns white
Before you turn to leave
I get there fasterAll the world just seems to melt away
Who needs these people's pity anywaysShades of truth in their words
Enough to light up in sparks
Every thing that we've made
All gets torn apartA blood soaked flick of the wrist
And the ashes fly off
I don't know what I've done
Until once it's stoppedAll the world just seems to melt away
Who needs these people's pity anyways
All the world world just seems to melt away
Who needs these people's comfort anywaysCan't calm down
Carry it all around
Every second, every breathe
Save yourself
I can not be helped
A little choked up just at the thought of it
