

Voice of Reason

Chamillionaire

Hold up, hold up, hold up, hold up A conversation between 2 different people one's the original and one's the sequel See one ain't never scared to tell you what he believe in but you always got the other one that's that voice of reason listen,
See life is a game of chess and I never could be a pawn I calculate every step they gonna kiss the ring of the don these basic women I meet they could never be on my arm love me 'cause of my ice and the blueishness of my charm ain't stressing about a heffer, I treat her just like my songs, play her then play her twice, she'll remember me when I'm gone ain't nobody that want it they knowin I'm gonna respond these suckers is false alarms and they knowin that ima bomb let a sucker pull out his heat like he's darin me to reply I'm speaking in to his piece like I'm daring the kid to try most people will hold the truth they'll share it if its a lie and the truth is before I let you embarrass me i would die so I'm living like Superman what the hell is the Kryptonite when I know I can have some gangstas show up at your crib tonight don't think you're invincible 'cause you're holding your pistol tight you pull a mack in my sight and I bet you won't live to type careful of how I rep when I throw my set in the sky, living a life that's factual I never could live a lie a legacy lives forever, some Arabs just live to die so when the grim reaper try me I'm staring him in his eye, can't put on a business tie that ain't really the way I hustle ain't trying to scuff up the suit negotiate with my knuckles currency out in customs euros inside the duffel money I didn't declare I see ten but it's really double you touch it theres gonna be trouble no one touching my cash i'm welcoming any suckers and busters who wanna clash just cause I put on the hoodie don't mean that I'm lower class we can disgust the future but that don't erase the past no stopping my vibrating keep on moving and shaking brought more illegal hundreds through custom and immigration on the quest to be great and I probably gonna show up late when I'm leaving my lady waiting and I call it anticipation go ahead throw a stone if you feel it will entertain you better hope that you miss and don't be the one getting strangled they say that money can change you that depends on the angle tell me how much it cost to get turn to a perfect angel she talking relationships and the exit to be complete moved in to kiss the lips and I missed em and kiss the cheek generations confused they know that they can't compete their movements ain't really moving I'm moving way from my seat they stay away from the drama you probably could be Obama just because how I dress they look at me like I'm Osama interrogating, you ask the last time that I've seen my father tell you that when you guess the last time that I see my mama They say that it will be alright but sometimes I kind of doubt, I admit that i doubt it they say that it will be alright but sometimes I kind of doubt it

I admit that I doubt it

See that's how the conversation normally go until you flip over the card and see the other side of the conversation it's always the wise man, the og, giving you a little game you know on the convoys soundin like, See life is a game of chess try your best to not be the pawn calculate every step make em kiss the ring of the don every woman you meet treat her good as you treat your mom and i promise you'll end up with something beautiful on your arm don't stress about no one else treat your family just like your songs calculate what you say they'll remember it when your gone any question you get that ain't worthy then don't respond you let em think what they think and just kill em all with your charm, killa pull out his heat and he daring you to reply that's speakin like you a chief or a sheriff will never fly most people will hold the truth but they'll share it if it's a lie the truth is you really cant get embarrassed after you die don't try to be Superman when you standin on Kryptonite think carefully when you speak might help you live tonight don't think your invincible cause your holding your pistol tight you see a mack in your sight that don't mean you gonna live to Skype be thankful of every breath like you cherishing the supply you'll be a breath of fresh air learn to humidify a legacy lives forever it's probably the biggest lie cause a legacy ain't gonna live if no one remembers you died go put on a business tie make em respect your hustle you can keep on the sneaks so they'll know you came up like Russell currency out in customs don't sneak it until you duffel it's money you didn't declare then the people gonna think your trouble you stackin than keep it subtle you can go make the cash but careful or all the vultures and cultures that love to clash just cause you wear a hoodie don't mean that your lower class we can go fix the future but that don't erase the past no hatin your vibratin i know your moving and shaking but savor the later look at your vault you'll see its vacant on the quest to be great and i know you'll probably be late when your leaving your lady waitin just hope she dont get taken tired of finger pointing your doing what entertain you but member its entertainment not something that can sustain you say that money changed you never a perfect angel but angel invest and hope that lead to the perfect angel the woman that you give your ring to i hope that she never cheat she moving and kiss your lips i just hope the kiss is sweet this generation is confused what the hell is a twitter tweet your movement aint really moving its doing it from your seat stay away from the drama your probably could be Obama don't act like we ever thought that we would even see Obama i know you aint seen your momma i know you aint seen your father but just caused they disappeared dont mean you gotta be a gone'er...

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>