

It Was Enough

Blind Pilot

If I came to you in thunder
Not one shiver in my heart
Black as crow against the white lies of the morning
Trying to tell themselves apart
All apart, all apart And if it's everything you're waiting on
I know that's easy to do
If your light is shining in another's arms
Well I can't say it isn't true
It isn't true, it isn't true
But just to see the sky split its arms open wide
It was enough If I came to you in sunlight
Not one reason in my heart
Like the colors sleeping underneath your garden
Trying to pull themselves apart
All apart, all apart And for every year just wondering
If I could ever fall enough
If I had grabbed your hand in thunder
While everything was struck
Well I was struck, I was struck
Well I was struck, I was struck, I was struck
