

Friends And Alibis

Escape The Fate

Oh, I hate to be the one to bear the bad news

Yes, it is true

I finally fell in love

I fell so hard that I'm killing myself

Yes, I need out

Out of this grave that I've dug

And all the friends that I have gone through

And how much I deserve the pain

It's a shame

So hold your head

Hold it up high

Here's to the friends that were alibis

Keep this close by your side

When I come home we will have our night

Oh, they always told me I was gorgeous in a way

And that fateful day

I found who I was

So fill this hole with my prescriptions

I just keep feeding my addictions

And all the friends that I have gone through

And how much I deserve the pain

It's a shame

So hold your head

Hold it up high

Here's to the friends that were alibis

Keep this close by your side

When I come home we will have our night

We will have our night

You were the ones that stood by my side, whoa

And I was the one that fought all of your fights

Go!

(Hold your head, hold it up high) Whoa

(Keep this close by your side) Whoa

So hold your head

Hold it high

Here's to the friends that were alibis

Keep this close by your side

When I come home we will have our night

Hold your head
Hold it up high
Here's to the friends that were alibis
Keep this close by your side
When I come home we will have our night
Hold your head
Hold it up high
Here's to the friends that were alibis
Keep this close by your side
When I come home we will have our night
We will have our night
