Friends And Alibis

Escape The Fate

Oh, I hate to be the one to bear the bad news Yes, it is true I finally fell in love I fell so hard that I'm killing myself Yes. I need out Out of this grave that I've dug And all the friends that I have gone through And how much I deserve the pain It's a shame So hold your head Hold it up high Here's to the friends that were alibis Keep this close by your side When I come home we will have our night Oh, they always told me I was gorgeous in a way And that fateful day I found who I was So fill this hole with my prescriptions I just keep feeding my addictions And all the friends that I have gone through And how much I deserve the pain It's a shame So hold your head

Here's to the friends that were alibis

Keep this close by your side

When I come home we will have our night

We will have our night

You were the ones that stood by my side, whoa

And I was the one that fought all of your fights

Go!

Hold it up high

(Hold your head, hold it up high) Whoa
(Keep this close by your side) Whoa
So hold your head
Hold it high
Here's to the friends that were alibis
Keep this close by your side
When I come home we will have our night

Hold your head
Hold it up high
Here's to the friends that were alibis
Keep this close by your side
When I come home we will have our night
Hold your head
Hold it up high
Here's to the friends that were alibis
Keep this close by your side
When I come home we will have our night
We will have our night
