

Slain

Enforsaken

The outlander walked into town, coverd in gore
He knew he could not wait much longer, he needed more

Death

Pain

Blood...

TerrorOn the high plain they lost their lives

Hundreds were slain

Why they died no one will knowTheir bloodstains weill allways show for all time
Wasting no time he began defiling whores

Tear

Rape

He would be the last man they felt, a carnivore
Ravage

MaimOn the high plain they lost their lives
Hundreds were slain

Their bloodstains will always show for all time
Firing, loaded rifle, never ending killing spree

Why they died no one knowsSlashing with machette, body parts are the debris fullest extent

One more town, slowly going down

There is no escape, he holds your fate as the death rate climbs to the

This is the comming of endless torment[Solo Jack Owen]Remains of the slain, a dead body wasteland
Unburied victims lie, blood soaking into the sand

fullest extentOne man left, sherif bereft, faces the stranger with intent

[Solo Pat O'Brien]

On the high plain they lost their lives

Hundreds were slain

Why they died no one will know

Their bloodstains will always sho for all...

Time

Big iron

Both die

ExpiredOn the high plain they lost their lives

Hundreds were slain

Why they died no one will know

Their bloodstains will always sho for all...

Slain
