Step Into My Office, Baby

Belle and Sebastian

She called me up today

Meet me down at the old cafe

I jumped into the shower

I was getting my marching ordersWe need to talk

Step into my office, baby

I want to give you the job

A chance of overtime

Say, my place at nineShed never stand for any lies

Shes got an out tray full of guys

I could sense a breath, a whole new feeling

Now she says she wants to call a meetingWe need to talk

Step into my office, baby

I want to give you the job

A chance of overtime

Say, my place at nineIm a slave to work

Im only living when I walk

Amongst the office staff

And catch up with the office wagIll be in bed by nine

My curtains drawn

My thoughts composed

I get to work on timeShe gave me some dictation

But my strength is in administration

I took down all she said

I even took down her little red dressWe need to talk

Step into my office, baby

I want to give you the job

Im pushing for a raise

Been pushing now for daysMy output is in decline

I was burned out after Thatcher

My banner I laid down with a sigh

Now I doubt if Ill ever catch herIve got to change my ways

Dress for business every day

A sharp suit and a kipper tie

A big arrow pointing to my flyI fish out for workout baby

Don't go where the mouse is babyWe need to talk

Step into my office, baby

I want to give you the job

A chance of over time

Say my place at nine
