

Perfect Memory

Remy Zero

Remember how they always seemed to know
We had the forest in our eyes
But the earth was in our clothes
And they thought we'd fall
Not at all
So look back on the treasured days
We were young in a world that was so tired
Though it's not what we wanted before
Even the saints had to crawl from the floor
Summers when the money was gone
You'd sing all your little songs
That meant every thing to me And I'll remember you
And the things that we used to do
And the things that we used to say
I'll remember you
That way Remember how they tried to hold you down
And we climbed those towers
And looked down upon our town
And everything you hoped would last
Just always becomes your past (it hurts)
Summers when the money was gone
You'd sing all your little songs
That meant everything to me And I'll remember you
And the things that we used to do
And the things that we used to say
I'll remember you
That way But then this world
Slipped through my fingers
And even the sun seemed tired
I still cared
As I lowered you down
My heart just jaded
In that moment the earth made no sound
But you were there
You helped me lift my pain into the air And I'll remember you
And the things that we used to do
And the things that we used to say
I'll remember you
That way If it don't hurt you

It won't hurt me
It don't hurt me
Then it won't hurt you
If it don't hurt you
It won't hurt me I know

Songwriters

TATE, CINJUN / CAIN, JEFFREY / LEMOYNE, CEDRIC / TATE, SHELBY / SLAY, GREGORYPublished by

Lyrics Â© Warner/Chappell Music, Inc. Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>