

Just Another Heart

Diamond Rio

You treat love like a game
But you don't play by any rules
You keep an ace held up your sleeve
For any unsuspecting fool
I thought I would be different
So I did not expect
That to you I'd be another
Heart in the deck
Just another heart, for you to shuffle around
Just a little part, of a bigger game that's going down
I don't like this deal, so I'll get out while I still can
I don't want to be just another heart in your hand
Like a riverboat gambler
Someday you'll lose your touch
To a smooth operator
Who cheats you out of love
When your diamonds turn to teardrops
When your gold begins to rust
It's then you will know
This feeling of running out of trust
I'm, just another heart, for you to shuffle around
Just a little part, of a bigger game that's going down
I don't like this deal, so I'll get out while I still can
I don't want to be just another heart in your hand
I can't take anymore
Of what you're not giving me
I can live with a lot
But I don't want to be
Just another heart, for you to shuffle around
Just a little part, of a bigger game that's going down
I don't like this deal, so I'll get out while I still can
I don't want to be just another heart in your hand
I don't like this deal
So I'll get out while I still can
'Cause I don't want to be
Just another heart in your hand
Your treat love like a game
But your don't play by any rules
