Pacing Around the Church

Cold Cave

Pacing around the church
there's no one here there's just excuses when the truth is nowhere nearStars explode, you dream below oh god, a prayer and a broken home you stare at a wall and think about your life your brittle, little lifeOh, you won't make it out there alone you may need me now
and now we are anything but either of these oh take you, take meChasing the ghosts around the planted towns you have so much love to give but nowhere to live frozen tear dying of thirst the failure of the suffer with your past is not the last or the first the wish is in the well, go to hellOh, you won't make it out there alone
you may need me now
oh take you, take meYou can seldom count on love you can often count on hate you can always count on death as your fate when you need a place for ??? then darling look for me I take pleasure in bringing your enemies to their kneesThis was easy when we were young and free and now we are anything but either of theseOh, you won't make it out there alone
you may need me now
you may need me now and thenIt was perfect when we were young and free but now we are anything but either of these now take you, take me
