

The King Speaks

Avatar

The King is now stepping out into the balcony, to the cheers of the crowd. He is wearing the royal cape and crown, and seems to be in good health.
His mustache is in excellent condition this morning,
Which of course is a good sign for an early spring.
He is now getting ready to speakMy dear citizensToday is a great day for me,
And therefore, of course, for the whole kingdom."I have the great privilege to announce that the royal enema has been carried through with success,
And that my Majesty is no longer constipated Naturally, this is particularly good news for the peasantry in our beautiful country and we ought to expect excellent productivity out of the fields.FurthermoreI took a bath this morning.The crowd cheersThe bath was warm, dignified, and reinvigorating.
And I look forward to see what the Royal Brewery will be able to achieve with my Majesty's royal residueVery well, that was all for today
Now, it's time for volleyballLive well, my citizensGod save the King

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>