Wet as Rain

Daniel Antopolsky

You put railroad tracks under my feet
Iâ€™m just a hobo on the street, street, street
And my only address is the wild and wooly west
And my sun never sets in the sea

Iâ€™m a bum, and a beggar and a thief
Yet I dream Iâ€™m still your Indian chief, chief, chief
And your heart for meâ€™s the flame, but when I wake up itâ€™s the same
Thereâ€™s lifeâ€™s bows and arrows shootinâ€™ me
And your heart for meâ€™s a flame, but when I wake up itâ€™s the same
Thereâ€™s lifeâ€™s bows and arrows shootinâ€™ me

Never learned how to wrestle or how to box
Never learned how to outwit any fox, fox, fox
And my biggest enemy is the one and only me
And Iâ€™m down for the count, yes siree
And my biggest enemy is the one and only me
And Iâ€™m down for the count, one, two, three

Iâ€™ve been duped by the mirror on my wall
There was a time when it showed me standing tall, tall, tall
Well, I laid it on its side, so I could see my weary eyes
And my mirrorâ€™s standing just 20 inches high

Iâ€™ve told falsehood, rumors and downright lies
Iâ€™ve been accused of cheatinâ€™ kin-folks and their wi-wi-wives
Iâ€™ve caused a lot of pain
Iâ€™ve been halfway insane
But when I say, "I love you, Girl" thatâ€™s wet as rain

Well, Iâ€™ve caused a lot oâ€™ pain
Man, Iâ€™ve dealt a crooked game
Well, but when I say, "I love you, Gal"
Oh, when I say, "I love you, Gal"
Oh, when I say, "I love you, Gal"
Thatâ€™s wet as rain

Lyrics Submitted by Marie Harel

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/