

Eachother (feat. Eternia)

Apollo Brown

"...Failed to answer ("why did he leave me?")

Why did he leave?"C'mon

Check

Let's go

AyoI can think of many ways that we can go our separate ways, but never this

Never imagined I would lose a path and we'd exist in separate worlds

But we came together boy and girl and it made sense

Felt like a puzzle piece effortlessly falling into place

When we walked in the space, they didn't understand

I didn't look like anyone you're messing with

And even then, you rocked with me, proudly introduced me to the fam

Got me saying "god, this is heaven sent"

Planted seeds for what we planned them for

You were my daily practice rituals and action, I wanted to grow

And so I fed us, I prayed to God everyday

And I can honestly say that she answered every one of those

Opened up the doors, the windows and the glass on the ceiling cracks

So I can pass through on tippy toes

My blessings from above, I nurtured you like I would do a child in the womb

Until the tomb, my first love

"Why did he leave me?"

I need you, you need me, we need each other, love

"Why did he leave me?"

I leave you, you leave me, we leave each other 'cause

"Why did he leave me?"

I need you, you need me, we need each other, love

"Why did he leave me?"

I leave you, you leave me, we leave each otherCome to be my love, you make it harder and harder, just put down the gloves

If I didn't care, I wouldn't bother that we came through stuff

So many times, I want to break

But instead, I stayed late awake almighty said "wait"

And so I figured love, you needed proof of my fidelity

You seen enough to make it hard to see what's relevant

Not peoples, place, and things, but people over things

Somebody to celebrate you, the insecurity obscures your view

I think about you, but then I think about God

And think he's greater than the both of us, the hurt that we caused

What are the odds? We're still growing, the going is hard

Whatever it'll be is what it is, remember the start?
I got to thinking, love, I like to open the windows
You like to close 'em up, do you believe in what you see?
I see a world of intangibles where dreams are made up
Maybe we were brought together just so we come undone
C'mon
Lord
I feel like this beat
Anyway
I said all that I had to say
That's it
