

Back Where You Belong

Donna Summer

I've been down there a million times, if I've been down before
Never thought I'd hurt so bad to see you play the fool
Never mountain high enough, I'd say and I watch you climb
Till the day I saw you walk out of your life and mine So I'm gonna leave you just because I want you
Back where you belong
Gonna make you see just what you've been doing to me
Back where you belong
Back home right by my side is where you want to be Back where you belong Standing in the shadows watch your never ending flight
Just how high as high to be before you see the light
Will this be the change you need to show you who you are?
I love you but I'll leave you just to prove you've gone too far So I'm gonna leave you just because I want you
Back where you belong
Gonna make you see just what you've been doing to me
Back where you belong
Back home right by my side is where you want to be
Back where you belong
Can't you see you're losing me, using me?
Back where you belong
Heaven knows I love you, will this make you see?
Back where you belong So I'm gonna leave you just because I want you
Back where you belong
Gonna make you see just what you've been doing to me
Back where you belong
Back home right by my side is where you want to be
Back where you belong
Don't you understand my feelings and set me free?
Don't you realize it?
