How We End Up Alone

Hurt

how we end up alone by hurtthere's no more use in lying yeah, there's no more use in lying to tell the truth i don't care what you'll do there's no more use in lying there's no more use in trying when there's no more use denying i gave you the proof i don't care what you'll do we act in bitterness and then we scream our very souls are burning i would react but then my mask would slip and you'd see me i hate him, you love me together we are nothing i'm fucking scared to be alone then you'll see from my way because you will see from my way that's how we end up alone
there was no more use denying if you paid your dues i don't care it just proves

there was no more use in crying if there no more use in hiding you do what you do
i don't care it just proves.
nobody seems to care cause nobody's ever here nobody wants to listen cause nobody's even there so we end up alone
if you fear for my way, well then, you'd see it from my way 'cause when you see it from my way well then, you see it from my way you will see it from my way because you will see things my way i gave her my youth just to make me the proof

that's how we end up alone
because no one seems to care because no one is ever there
