

Sittin' Pretty

The Elwins

Your eyes are heavy
They're here weighing you down
Feet are restless
Forever touching the ground
Coming out of an ending
Holding on to the thing that got you down Sittin' pretty
What a lovely display
Hey now did he Set you off on your way
Floating up to the clear blue
Growing through a shoe that doesn't fit you Are you waitin for the right time?
Looking for a hand to fold
Still you've got a question another secret left untold Pulling heartstrings Tuning up a full step
You write in pavement
So we never forget
There's a bottle a-tippin
Let it spill and watch the way it goes Are you waitin for the right time?
Looking for a hand to fold
You waiting for the right time?
Doing it and holding still
Yeah you've got a question
And another hole to fill Are you waitin for the right time?
Looking for a hand to fold
You waiting for the right time?
Doing it and holding still
Yeah you've got a question
And another hole to fill It's the way you're moving your tongue
That's a shot to the lung
With the dagger in your hand
Will you get up again? You waiting for the right time?
Are you waitin for the right time?
