

Country Girl

Small Island Pride, Roderick Border and his Orches

Fell in love with a country girl, mornin' sunshine,
She was up from a nether world, just to bust another soul
 Her eyes were an endless flame, unholy lady
 Desire wore a special name, made to snatch
 Your soul away, yeah
 We sailed away on a crimson tide,
 Down the river,
 Left my heart on the other side
 All to break it into bits
 Her smile was a winter song
 A Sabbath ending
 Don't sleep or you'll find me gone
 Just an image in the air, oh yeah

 In dreams I think of you
 I don't know what to do with myself
 Time has let me down
 She brings broken dreams, falling stars
 The endless search for where you are
 So Wrong, so wrong, so wrong, so wrong
 Don't sail away on a crimson tide
 Don't leave your heart on another side
 She rides on an endless flame
 Desire wanna scratch your name
 Don't ever fall in love
 Don't give your heart away
 Don't ever, never fall in love
 With a country girl!
