The Warrior Inside

Dragonforce

So many fires bring mass devastation, many search exact inspiration
Jeopardize the right to hide from sad existence
Nothing left, still searching for something deep beneath the cries
Wait for the deafening silence, fly forever more
Crush with a thump and you're all alone, evasion in your eyes
I will be waiting tomorrow
Striving to understand, wasting a life not meant to be
Twisted and so broken once again
And the promises we?ve cast away will shine a guiding light
Victim of your brief of denial
Take my hand, this one last time
Face the world before us, the warrior inside
In a lifetime of disaster, it?s a battle to the end
Final step, my life must carry on and forever this time
Battered, beaten, forced to submission, stricken by your fatal decision
Suddenly it's time to say your last goodbyes
Misery remains voluntary, all the gold is gone
Wait through the blistering madness, free forever more
Blinded my eyes with your filtering, mutation cast aside
I still be wanting tomorrow
Slammed to a toxic man, forced to a life of yesterday
Fears of our salvation crushed and burned
Down this lonely road we see the day our dreams are brushed aside
Can't brigade this emptiness in time
Take my hand, this one last time
Face the world before us, the warrior inside
In a lifetime of disaster, it?s a battle to the end
Final step, my life must carry on and forever this time
See through the skies far beyond the world tonight
Hear the sounds of freedom ring in a silent dream
And a million miles away
See through the skies far beyond the world tonight
Hear the sounds of freedom ring in a silent dream
And a million miles away
Before the storm some people lost for a realm of free
In our hearts for a thousand years and a thousand lifetimes before
And the dawn of a new day will rise, add light for us all
