Isolation

The Bob Szajner Triad II

You arrive like a dragonfly
Float above the grass, trembling still
Think you might open up your heart
Open up your heart, someday you will
Yes, there's always a way
Yes, there's always a way
To end this isolation
When you rise like the Milky Way
On a luminous night the epic unknown
Though I try, try to find a sign
Of another life, I am alone
And there's always a way
Yes, there's always a way
To end this isolation
One step away from everyone
If you could open it up
You could connect it to us
One step is more than enough
To get a look in
You could be already gone
I wish you would take me along
To end this isolation
To end this isolation
I try so hard to get it right
Look for something in your eyes
And I see it
But you won't let yourself feel it
I wait for you to make a sign
Let the door open in your eyes
And I believe it
That one day you'll step inside
