

Self-Destruction

Down By Law

You say you've got it all figured out, you live life without a doubt
You say you're looking for something deeper
But I can't sit here watching
I won't march in time to the tune of self-destruction Well, I think it's time to make it on my own, I'm gonna live life all alone
Well, open your eyes and I'll show you a big surprise
Nobody makes it on their own, nothing is ever gonna change, you say
And there's no way you'll ever leave this code you follow today You say your rules are something deeper
But I see lies and they're getting deeper
You say everything else means nothing
But I can't sit here watching
I won't march in time to the tune of self destruction You say you've got it all figured out
I'm a bit wary of those who don't see a shadow of a doubt
Come see me in 20 years and I'll show you a host of change
In the end your inner spirit is all that will remain
