

Blue Eyes

The Original Rudeboys

You've got your bright blue eyes on me when I hold you you'll believe that maybe one day you will see oh that you're beautiful it all started as a dream he would say how much you mean to him yeah yeah yeah his words would whisper in your heart smiles would last right from the start or so it seems baby you paint these pictures in your head perfect love is what he said but the cracks have broke to broken pieces slowly things begin to change hard for you to feel the same that his love has left you lost and lonely

oh that you're beautiful
beautiful to me

he puts your make up just to make up it makes sense to break up and escape a look the way he leaves you in a state broken and bruised you tell your mates that hes great they read the clues he's taken years from your face and the signs have showed that you were better than this but still take the blows a broken nose and a black eye that ones blue fooling yourself into thinking that he loves you he shows affection only when your drying tears from perfection a love that's been dying for years only connections his fist and the angry beers and he brings he down so much and convinces ya he cares but you can do better than that and that's the truth real talk way better than facts don't ever let a man put his hands on ya you're too good for that don't ever stand for it

oh that you're beautiful

don't let him get you down don't let him pull you around

oh that you're beautiful
