Sorry From Your Friend

Antifreeze

save it for someone who'll really make a difference. save it for someone who'll really understand. i know you care for me, i know its been a long time since you called me up and cried yourself to sleep. the day you cared for me was the day that you had met yourself, and in my heart it is still there. i still think and wish that sometimes we could be together, for one of us its never fair. please dont ever fall apart, it was never good from the start. i know i am not the better man, but i will always be your friend. i told you not to care, and not to ever fall in love with me cause you'll just hate me in the end. you hurt yourself, you fell but your heart's still intact. they guy you're with dont fucking love you.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/