Night

Necromass

Bright night and we chase the moon searching for adventure
Hush
Our feet gracing mountain tops skipping cross horizons
Silhouetted against against the stars
I've tried so hard I'm searching through layers and trying to make out the words

Delicate designs distracting me from what I'm trying to find
A melody so sweet, from out the the walls it creeps to my ears
Such a sound I have long awaited to hear
We breathe, making little clouds, smiling through the dark and cold
As the wind breaks we shatter to the sky
Chorus
