Dear Lover

Foo Fighters

Dear lover, do you remember? The sound of your laughter and demise And that was all, I need to fall in loveThis matter, it's something bigger Anything ever graced my heart And that was all, I could fall in love with you And I can't stall this nowDid you find some happiness with me? 'Cause now, I know The way true love should beDear lover, do you remember? The beats of my heart that I gave you And that was all, I need to fall in loveIt shattered, slipped through my fingers Floated down safely into your hands And that was all, I could fall in love with you I can't stall this nowDid you find some happiness with me? Now, I know The way true love should beDid you find some happiness with me?
