This Is Your Life

Magik Johnson

This is not the warm up round, this is not a trial heat
It can't be repeated when your time is gone
This is not an infinite resource or the prelude to a starter course
You don't send it back if it gets done wrong
This is your life, treat yourself right
Treat others right, live like you know you should
This is life, fight the good fight
Fight for what's right, do what you know you should Every living soul completes a finite number of heartbeats
This is not the sum of what you're here for Every breath you take will be exhaled, every rising sun will fall
The measure of it all is what you live for
This is your life, treat yourself right
Treat others right, live like you know you should
This is life, fight the good fight
Fight for what's right, do what you know you should
You had a dream, but it got lost in a life of regret
The devil knows you get just one shot
You had a dream, are you still dreaming
Or did you forget that heaven's calling for your best shot?
This is your life, treat yourself right
Treat others right, live like you know you should
This is your life, treat yourself right
Treat others right, live like you know you should
This is life, fight the good fight
Fight for what's right, do what you know you should
This is your life, treat yourself right
Treat others right, live like you know you should
This is life, fight the good fight
Fight for what's right, do what you know you should

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/