Casablanca

Dissidenten

I'm watching the sky turn from black to the grey
And this is the end I know we're not afraid
Surrender your hands it's to late to let go
We're still breathing, don't stop breathing
The ground is falling under my feet
We're still around here
We're fading with time
There's no fear open your eyes
We're standing still now
We're going nowhere
It's not to late to crawl it's not to late to Reach the end I'll meet you there
In a world that never let you in
In a world where you found grace
I watched the water pull you in

(As it carries you away)
I know you won't let me fall on my own
There's no reason to abandon here
Open your eyes and witness the power
Of a place that's lost control
His creation at its finest
It's what we call our home
My life passes by as the sky starts to fade
If this is the end I know I'm not afraid
The meaning of this is becoming so clear
Prepare for the worst this is going to be hell
I know you won't be there I fall alone
Tell me why I am still standing here

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/