If You Ever

Bobby Whitlock

We are not strangers Could we have met some place before Am I in danger of myself You pull me right across the room You're like a magnet It's like were thinking out loud I can feel your undivided attention I can feel an unexplained connection I know that you're with somebody else But I do Feel like I have loved you In another place and time If it's true Then I'll be waiting for you If you ever change your mind Let me change your mind You leave me breathless While sweet seduction takes a hold I can feel an unexplained connection You lied to everybody else I can feel your undivided attention I know that we have to say good bye But I do Feel like I have loved you If it's true If you ever change your mind In another place and time Then I'll be waiting for you If you ever realise If you ever change your mind That it's me you want in your life You know where to find me If you ever change your mind Yeah ,Yeah, Yeah... But I do Feel like I have loved you In another place and time If it's true Then I'll be waiting for you If you ever change your mind Baby change your mind If you ever change your mind Woah I'll be waiting... If You ever, ever change your mind Baby change your mind Woah [Thanks to chazz@voila.fr for these lyrics] Woah change your mind
