The Devil Smiles

Cody Riley

I see the writing on the wall, like a fool I fall for your trickery
Reachin' out & lead in' me on. Damn these dark highways to hell with good in goodbye, damn your lies & believin' in you one more time, one more time

I'm picking up the pieces of a broken heart & everything I do makes it fall apart, yeah I ain't ever been this alone. I can't free my mind cause I already know I'm hangin on to everything, I can't let go, and all the while, the devil smiles.

And there's a man in the rear view lookin' back stuck in the past. He's constantly reminding me that I'm way off track. And the lonely in his eyes don't even compare to the pain that he's dragging with him everywhere, everywhere I go.

I'm picking up the pieces of a broken heart & everything I do makes it fall apart, yeah I ain't ever been this alone. I can't free my mind cause I already know I'm hangin on to everything, I can't let go, and all the while, the devil smiles.
