

So He Won't Break

The Black Keys

Gone like the wind
And the state it put him in
To hold his head high
When he really wanna die And you know the difference it makes
And you know all that it takes
Is love, so he won't break
He won't break He's crazy from the pain
And can't get hurt again
And if he ever falls
I'd be sorry for us all And you know the difference it makes
And you know all that it takes
Is love, so he won't break
He won't break, won't break, he won't break Right around the way
Is where they go to pay
Remedies and pills
To ease their ills And you know the difference it makes
And you know all that he thinks
Is love, so he won't break
He won't break, won't break, he won't break
