Good Morning Baby

Dan Wilson of Semisonic and Bic Runga -

Between an overload of information
And a striving for a pure dedication
I find myself looking for the exit sign
See your pretty face in the sunshineIn the morning after staying up all night
I want to wake you just to hear you
Tell me it's alright
And all I want to be is too much
Sometimes for meGood morning baby
I hope I'm gonna make it through another day
Good morning baby
I hope I'm gonna make it through another daySee the stars and all the planets
Fly the great wide world and have it all
Yeah better get a ticket better get in line
I'm praying now for beautiful weatherTake a car and drive forever
But I'm only ever sitting at the traffic light
And all the world to see is too much
Sometimes for meGood morning baby
I hope I'm gonna make it through another day
Good morning baby
I hope we're gonna make it through another day(And when you rise)
And when you rise you'll find me here
(Open your eyes)
And see myself
