

2000 Years of Human Error

Godhead

I thought you'd tell me the truth
But when you opened your mouth out came a family of lies
The book we already read
Could never help us from your conglomeration of lies You probably believe what you told me
A never-ending cycle of greed
Pass it down to each generation
Another flock of sheep to mislead Scratch me harder
Til I bleed
God the father
Spreads his seed
Liars, liars
You sell it all to me
Liars, liars
I'm what you'll never be Give me something
Something real
Everything I see is nothing I can feel
Give me something
Something real
Everything I see is nothing I can feel
Liars, Liars
You sell it all to me
Liars, liars
I'm what you'll never be
