The Black Maria

You're staring out to space
Alone in your favorite restaurant
But the stool next to you is vacantYou're standing on the edge
You looking down on everyone
And wondering who loves youAnd there's no one ever there
You cherished all the birthday cards
You saved since you were a kidBut some things can never change, so just get used to it
Some people never change, they're incapable of it
They're all full of itYou're standing on the edge
You looking down on everyone
And wondering who loves you?When you scream
(You're standing on the edge
Looking down on everyone)That you're scared
(You're standing on the edge
Looking down on everyone)We are the ones that
Break down from the hopelessnessYou're standing on the edge
You looking down on everyone
And wondering who loves you?When I do
When I do
When I doSome things never change
(Some things can never change)
(Some things can never change)
When I do
