

Stolen Toys (Acoustic)

Passenger

Well there's so much turning still
Watching the fireflies drown
Set fire to the sails
Laughing as the boat goes down Well eyes tell a thousand tales
Chasing my own one around
Coffin with a thousand nails
And we hammer this last one down Ooooooooooh ooooooooooh ooooooooooh
Ooooooooooh ooooooooooh ooooooooooh I've got a head full of white noise
My heart full of silent fears
Pockets for the stolen toys
And a life full of wasted years Well if eyes cry thousand tears
Do they ever run dry?
I could love you for a thousand years
And never need to know why Ooooooooooh ooooooooooh ooooooooooh
