

Born Tonight

Jamie Grace

Not in a castle like you'd think, no
Golden slippers on His feet
The King is born tonight
Just a stable to call home, but
He doesn't even feel alone
The King is born tonight So feast your eyes on the Holy One
The fight for freedom has begun
Sons and daughters you must rise
The King is born tonight Miles away they felt the joy
Travelled so that they could adore
The King born tonight
His mother and His father there
Blown away that they would raise
The King born tonight So feast your eyes on the Holy One
The fight for freedom has begun
Sons and daughters you must rise
The King is born tonight And every little thing, every little thing will be different
Peace on earth to the men, women and the children
And nobody, nobody, nobody can say different
The King is born, the King is born, the King is born, yeah So feast your eyes on the Holy One
The fight for freedom has begun
Sons and daughters you must rise
The King is born
The King is born
The King is born tonight

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>