

Rise On Water

Brother Cane

With a pocket full of reasons
And the empty hands that choose to hold
The comfort of a life once filled with hope

But now the hope is fading and you're losing faith in purity

You're torn between what's right and what you need
Nobody ever told you, how dark the sky could turn from blue

Nobody ever sold you oh, more than one mistake

Nobody ever told you, how deep the water gets when you jump in
Now you're reachin' out for somethin'
That amounts to nothin' once again

A silent life degraded even more

The you that you now love is a lie
Nobody ever warned you, no one could even reach you there

Nobody ever taught you, don't ever lose control

And no one ever told you, so out of your mind
Rise on water, I need to see you

Rise on water, rise on water and leave, oh
Nobody ever told you, how dark the sky could turn from blue

Nobody ever sold you oh, more than one mistake

Nobody ever told you, how deep the water gets when you jump in
Rise on water, I need to see you
Rise on water, oh, rise on water, oh
