

Creation (Remastered 2013)

Dark Side Cowboys

I've seen the impasse of mankind
I think I've been there to tell how it hurts
But I certainly don't claim I'm abnormal
Or that I know everything there is to know...
But I tell you that during my time here
I have never met anyone as mean as you
I don't expect you to listen now either
I mean, like you ever took some advice from me
You think you've become a love-pirate
But you've become a perverted parasite
The madness you show me is awful
But the broken promises you gave are worse my friend
Don't expect me to be merciful
Don't think that I'll be nice
This time the game is different
You'll notice if you try
Do you dare to approach me again
Would you try once more to convince me with lies
Would you stand one look in my eyes
Can you face your creation of pain
My heart holds a wish for retribution
To make you suffer, to make you bleed and cry
But I can't get my hands that dirty
In fact, I couldn't even try
But a warning on your way
I'm sick of hearing your sweet lies and calumny
You could call me a loner, call me insane
Say I'm disgusting, say I'm a shame
It won't do you good to call me anything at all
You won't see me weeping and you won't see me fall
I've learned your game, I raise the odds now
This time I draw the lines you know...
Don't expect me to be merciful
Don't think that I'll be nice
This time the game is different
You'll notice if you try
Do you dare to approach me again
Would you try once more to convince me with lies
Would you stand one look in my eyes

Can you face your creation of pain
