

You

Jaci Velasquez

Who makes the sun light up my shadows
When the darkness tries to follow me?
Who makes the air that bring me life
So I can breathe the love that's given to me? You make everything good everything wonderful
You grace my days and heaven fills my view let's forever sing
You make everything pure everything beautiful
You make me see the only thing that's true, it's You Who makes the waters of my sorrow part
And leads the gladness into my heart?
Who makes the rivers run that wash away
And clean my soul to make a new start? You hung the moon
You placed the stars that shine Your love for me
I hope all that I do will show reflections of you
