Pour

Levellers

Pour some metal on your heart, my dear
The puzzle is nearing its end
Yeah, pour some metal on your heart, my love
The destruction of the world is at an endI've seen all of the hiding places
And they are written in style
I've seen all of the shameless faces
And they are wearing a smile
So believe me when I tell you
They've been lying to youPour some blue into your eyes, my dear
Obscure the edges of your sight
Go on pour that blue into your eyes, my love
When you're facing the cavalcade of the nightThere's always one in a million faces
With a destiny smile
Dragging us down to a nameless places
For the sake of your style
So believe me when I tell you
They've been lying to youSo pour some metal on my heart
Go on and pour some blue into your eyes
Go on and pour some metal on my heart, my dear
And pour that blue into your eyesI've seen all of the hiding places
Where destiny smiles
I've seen all of the shallow faces
Looking scared for a while
So believe me when I tell you
They've been lying for you
