

Everything

Nine Inch Nails

I survived, everything
I have tried, everything (everything, everything) All the walls begin to devolve away
Do your hands begin to shake shake shake shake shake
And just who do you think you used to be?
All beings to burn to break to break to break Wave goodbye, wish me well
I've become, something else (something else, something else, just as well) But this thing that lives inside of me
Will surely rise awake awake awake awake awake
And the sead that brekas right through to me
And it comes to grab and take and take and take and take I am home, I believe
I am home, I am free
I am home, I can see
Always here, finally I am home, I believe,
I am home, I am free
