Running to My Freedom

Leo Sayer

you should have been there when I gave the newsI know you would have been surprised to seethe smoke and the fire that was comin' out of menow that I've finally shaken you looseand I have cut the chains that held me backfeelin' more and more like a train rolling down the track running to my freedomI ain't never gonna give it backme and my freedom, from now on one of these days it's gonna happen to youyou're gonna find yourself in love so deepthat you would give up anything for that love to keepthen sooner or later it will break down on youand when you finally feel all the hurt insideyou will understand the reason why I cried running to my freedomI ain't never gonna give it backme and my freedom, from now on and why I took my freedomI ain't never gonna give it backme and my freedom, from now on running to my freedomI ain't never gonna give it backme and my freedom, from now onnow that I've finally shaken you looseand I have cut the chains that held me backfeelin' more and more like a train rolling down the track running to my freedomI ain't never gonna give it backme and my freedom, from now on

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/