New Idea Society

Another round of one on one
It's never time, it's not the place
You made your mind up; I made comments meaningless
Out in the hall I heard you sighing
You held every breath, you felt every chain
Hoping for a feeling, but the feeling never came
You held every breath, you felt every chain
Searching for a reason, but the reason never came
Do you remember when you said
That there was nothing you would change?
What better feeling and you want it all the time
What better feeling and you want it
What I wanted, what you needed

Found the two were not related
I waste my time, write these lines
Wait for something you can't find
The feeling's all but gone but still remains tonight
A close encounter on the stair
Echoes of laughter in the hall
What better feeling and you want it all the time
What better feeling and you want it
What I wanted, what you needed
Found the two were not related
I waste my time, write these lines
Wait for something you can't find
The feeling's all but gone but still remains tonight
