

Tunic

Sonic Youth

Dreaming, dreaming of a girl like me
Hey, what are you waiting for? Feeding, feeding me
I feel like I'm disappearing, getting smaller every day
But I look in the mirror and I'm bigger in every way You aren't never going anywhere
You aren't never going anywhere
I ain't never going anywhere
I ain't never going anywhere I'm in heaven now, I can see you Richard
Goodbye Hollywood, goodbye Downey
Hello Elvis, hello Janis and all my brand new friends
I'm so glad you're here with me, until the end Dreaming, dreaming how it's supposed to be
But now this tunic's spinning, around my arms and knees
I feel like I'm disappearing, getting smaller every day
But I look in the mirror and I'm bigger in every way You aren't never going anywhere
You aren't never going anywhere
I ain't never going anywhere
I ain't never going anywhere
[Incomprehensible] I can see you, I can see you Mom, Dad and Richard
And I remember Mom, what you said
"Don't let it, don't let it go to your head" [Inaudible] Another green salad, another ice tea
There's a tunic in the closet waiting for me
I feel like I'm disappearing, getting smaller every day
But I look in the mirror and I'm bigger in every way Never going anywhere
You ain't never going anywhere
I ain't never going anywhere
I ain't never going anywhere Richard, are you there? I can't see
Is this how it's meant to be?
I can still hear Mommy's voice and she said
"Honey don't let it go to your head"
