Tequila Moonlight

Self Against City

You gave me that look across the table
At dinnertime
Your toes caress my ankle
And I notice your breathing getting heavy
Your speech short of steady
It's obvious you're readySkip the elevator
Head straight toward the stairs
Lipstick shades on pillowcases
Love and lust together hereBut you know
I don't have to tell you
It's not just about that, not just about thatAnd you know
We don't have to prove it
Was never about that, never about thatWe'll turn the lights back on and straighten up the room
I'm buttoning my shirt, I watch you as you fixed your hair
We stumble downstairs
Can't tell them what has just occurred
Never feeling awkwardBut you know
I don't have to tell you
It's not just about that, not just about thatYou know
We don't have to prove it
Was never about that, never about thatBut you know
I don't have to tell you
It's not just about that, not just about thatAnd you know
We don't have to prove it
Was never about that, never about thatAnd you know
I don't have to tell you
It's not just about that, not just about thatYou know
We don't have to prove it
Was never about that, never about thatNever about that, never about that Never about that, never about that
