

Days Gone By

Bob Moses

[Verse 1]

The world that you control is breaking and you feel it all
So cold around you, the pieces that you hold
Are falling with your feeling of the world, it found you
Even if I kneel, you worry that I turn around and steal
The future, feel it, you know well
So you play your part and turn away from me[Chorus]

With all of these days gone by
It's you and I, no need to question
Why all of these days go by
And you nor I have learned our lesson With all of these days gone by
It's you and I, no need to question
Why all of these days go by

And you nor I have learned our lesson[Verse 2]

The will behind your eyes, I could tell
That you can almost feel your pride
It's painted on your face
The smile that you would just as soon erase
If I would listen what you say
And not just play my part and turn away from you[Chorus]

With all of these days gone by
It's you and I, no need to question
Why all of these days go by
And you nor I have learned our lesson With all of these days gone by
It's you and I, no need to question
Why all of these days go by

And you nor I have learned our lesson[Bridge]

Whoa, whoa , whoa , whoa , whoa
Whoa , whoa , whoa, whoa , whoa, whoa , whoa[Chorus]

With all of these days gone by
It's you and I, no need to question
Why all of these days go by
And you nor I have learned our lesson With all of these days gone by
It's you and I, no need to question
Why all of these days go by

And you nor I have learned our lesson With all of these days gone by
It's you and I, no need to question
Why all of these days go by
And you nor I have learned our lesson With all of these days gone by

It's you and I, no need to question
Why all of these days go by
And you nor I have learned our lesson

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>