

Finally Falling

Victoria Justice

Suddenly, my choice is clear
I knew when only you and I were standing here Well that money isn't worth a thing
If you didn't earn it, you don't deserve it
True love doesn't cost a thing
And if you try to buy it, you can't return it No no no oh oh Your friends are doing all the same things
And my friends say look at what you're wasting
Well it doesn't matter if we change their minds
Suddenly I can see what I didn't before
And I don't care what they say anymore
'Cause I'm falling, falling
Finally falling, falling I don't need all the finer things
Diamond rings and nothing so show me something
'Cause love is all I need, all I ever wanted
And now I've got it (Yeah yeah yeah yeah yeah) And my friends are wondering what you're thinking
And your friends probably think the same thing
But it doesn't matter if we change their minds Suddenly I can see what I didn't before
And I don't care what they say anymore
'Cause I'm falling, falling
Finally falling, falling If you can't find love when you're in it
Just forget it
It would change your mind once you get it
Don't you get it, 'cause we did it
Yeah we did it, well we did it Suddenly I can see what I didn't before
And I don't care what they say anymore
'Cause I'm falling, falling
Finally falling, falling Suddenly I can see what I didn't before
And I don't care what they say anymore
'Cause I'm falling, falling
Finally falling, falling
Finally falling, falling
Finally falling, falling

Songwriters

CORCORAN, MICHAEL / SCHNEIDER, DAN / ABRAHAM, CHRIS / BELL, DRAKE Published by Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>